The U.S. Drug War has fueled mass incarceration and discriminatory policing practices in the U.S. as well as violence and militarization throughout Latin America. This panel will bring together organizers and scholars on both sides of the border to talk about the domestic and international impacts of the Drug War and their strategies to resist this racist, ineffective, and devastating “war.”

Featuring: Alfredo Carrasquillo, Civil Rights Organizer, VOCAL-NY; David Vivar, author and scholar at Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Honduras with a focus on the U.S. cooperation in Honduran military coup of 2009 and the centrality of drug trafficking to state power in Honduras; and introductory remarks by Vincent Warren, Executive Director, Center for Constitutional Rights.

Co-sponsored by: VOCAL-NY, Organización Fraternal Negra Hondureña (OFRANEH), Drug Policy Alliance, NY Harm Reduction Educators, Latino Justice PRLDEF, SOA Watch, Justice Committee, Center for NuLeadership, Sisters of Mercy-Institute Justice Team, Make the Road-NY, Malcolm X Grassroots Movement, Public Science Project, CAAAV Organizing Asian Communities, The Brotherhood/Sister Sol, Unitarian Church of All Souls
